Who we share your personal information with

Should you consider purchasing a property from us we may share your information with selected third parties that work on our behalf, to provide you with a product or service that is relevant to your enquiry or your reservation, or to comply with our legal obligations. These third parties are required to ensure appropriate security measures are in place and maintain the confidentiality of your information. These third parties can include, but are not limited to mortgage or finance providers, third parties we engage to carry out ID and anti-money laundering checks, and other legal and professional advisors. This information will only be used by us in relation to your enquiry or by third parties for the provision of a related product or service. The information will not be used for any other purpose.

If you enter into a reservation or contract to purchase a Gleeson home, we will also share relevant information with IT providers whose services we use to run our business (e.g., our customer relationship management (CRM) platform), conveyancing solicitors, our subcontractors and supply chain, utility providers including Gas, Electric, Water and telecommunications, the new home warranty provider (National House Building Council (NHBC)), online survey providers, estate and management agents and Local Authorities.

Where any of these third parties constitute 'data processors' for the purposes of data protection legislation, we confirm that written contracts have been entered into to ensure that adequate security measures are maintained.

We may share your email address with a third party data processor such as www.spotler.co.uk for the purpose of email distribution. If at any time you wish to stop receiving these emails you can unsubscribe via the link in the footer of the email or contact us at the address noted at the end of this notice.

We may share your personal data within the Gleeson group of companies and to our social media followers where we repost your social media content (with your prior permission).

Finally, under limited circumstances, your personal information may be disclosed to third parties as permitted by, or to comply with, applicable laws and regulations. For example, when complying with data subject rights under data protection legislation, proceedings of a court of law or similar legal process, to protect against fraud, and to otherwise cooperate with law enforcement or regulatory authorities.

ID and anti-money laundering checks

Under certain circumstances, we are required by law to carry out ID verification and anti-money laundering checks. As part of this process, we use a third party ID document verification application, provided by Thirdfort Limited, to verify the authenticity of an identity document. Your data will be processed in line with Thirdfort's Privacy Policy, which will be available via the application link which you will receive once we have onboarded you onto the Thirdfort system.

The legal basis we rely on to process your personal information

Under Data Protection legislation we are allowed to process your personal information if we meet certain conditions. We rely on the following bases for processing personal information:

1. In the performance of a contract

Where you enter into a contract to buy a Gleeson home, we will use your personal information so that we can fulfil our contractual obligations to you, and any relevant third party.

2. In the performance of our legal obligations

We will process your personal information where it is necessary for us to comply with the law (for example, relating to health and safety or anti-money laundering).

3. Where we have a legitimate interest in doing so

Where we consider that the use of your personal information is necessary to achieve a legitimate interest of Gleeson, and we've balanced that against your interests, rights and freedoms, then the law permits us to handle your personal information. Many of the reasons that we collect your personal information will fall under this category and examples include the need for us to run and develop our business, comply with industry codes of practice and to defend ourselves in legal proceedings.

Generally, we do not rely on consent as a legal basis for processing your personal information although we will get your consent before sending unsolicited marketing communications to you via email or text message, or as otherwise set out in this privacy notice. You have the right to withdraw consent to marketing at any time by contacting us.

How long we will hold your personal information

Data processed for enquiry purposes will be retained for the length of time we are actively selling new homes on the development you have requested information about and other Gleeson developments in the same area or until you ask us to remove it.

If you telephone Gleeson, we shall hold the call recording for 30 days, After 30 days, the call recordings are destroyed.

If you purchase a home from us we may retain your personal information for 15 years from the date of completion of your purchase.

If your purchase was assisted by a shared equity scheme we will retain your personal information for up to 12 years after monies owed to Gleeson have been paid and the contract is completed.

If your purchase was under a leasehold arrangement we will continue to process your personal information in respect of the leasing arrangement for the earlier of up to 12 years from either notification that you have sold your Gleeson home or when we no longer have any interest in the property.

We reserve the right to hold some of your personal data for up to 15 years for the purposes of defending ourselves in legal proceedings.

Data Scraping

For the purposes of this Privacy Notice, data scraping is defined as extraction of data from our website. We strictly prohibit the use of the automated tools or technologies – including bots, scrapers, crawlers, or spiders – to access, extract, or index any content or data from the website without our prior written consent.

We may publish information about developments, plots, pricing availability, and contact details for sales or customer service purposes. While this information is made publicly accessible to assist prospective buyers and partners, it remains protected under applicable data protection and intellectual property laws.

Under the UK General Data Protection Regulation (UK GDPR) and the Data Protection Act 2018, any unauthorised scraping or processing of personal data (such as names, email addresses, or enquiry details) may constitute unlawful processing.

Users which we have entered into a legitimate contract with are excluded from this prohibition subject to compliance with the applicable laws.

We reserve the right to pursue legal remedies against individuals or entities that violate this prohibition.

If you wish to use our data for legitimate business purposes, please contact us to discuss licensing or partnership opportunities.

Storage of your personal information

We will store digital or hard copy data on our premises, or it may be transferred to a secure third party facility for storage. We will keep your information secure by taking appropriate technical and organisational measures.

The information supplied to us via the enquiry forms on our website, or via enquiry forms on third party sites such as Rightmove, Facebook or Instagram is held on our computers and servers hosted by third parties.

Your personal information may be processed both within the European Economic Area ("EEA") and outside the EEA. If we process your personal information at a destination outside the EEA we confirm that we have appropriate contracts in place with any third parties based outside the EEA to ensure your data is processed in accordance with applicable Data Protection legislation.

Links from our website

If you reach our website via an external link or click a link to an external site from our website our Privacy Notice will not apply. We are not responsible for the accuracy of third party websites.

Your Rights

Under Data Protection legislation you have a number of rights. These include:

- The right to know how we use and handle your personal information
- The right to access the personal information that we are handling and to information contained within this privacy notice
- The right to request that we rectify any mistakes in the information we hold
- The right at any time to object to direct marketing or for you to be removed from our databases or mailing lists
- The right to restrict processing under certain circumstances
- The right to data portability
- The right to object to processing of your personal data under certain circumstances
- Rights in relation to automated decision making and profiling

If you have any questions or complaints relating to how we use your personal information, or if you wish to exercise any of your rights regarding your personal information, please email us at legal@mjgleeson.com or write to us at the following address and in either case include copies of appropriate identification in order that we may confirm your identity:
